A: Replace the loop with a for: `#!/usr/bin/perl use strict; use warnings; use LWP::Simple; my $max_length = 30; for my $words (split /\s+/, $ARGV[0]) { my $url = ". uri_escape($words); my $req = get($url); my @result = split / /, $req->content; #return if @result > 2; #Ejecutar sólo si no hay más resultados en la web; #print("@result "); #print $req->header('content-type'); #print 'url: '.$url; #print`

'word: '.$words.'" "; #print'result: '.join(' ', @result).'" ";
#print $req->header('content-type'); my $file_name =
$words. '.txt'; open (FILE, ">$file_name") or die
"Can't open $file_name for writing: $!"; print FILE @result; close FILE; } I used your first file as test and it worked. Q: WCF ChannelFactory returning false
"Control Channel Enumeration Failed" I'm trying to connect to a WCF service in a Windows Service via a ChannelFactory. The service is running on another machine and has an InstanceContext parameter in the constructor. The service is installed on the machine that is running the service. Here's the code I'm using to connect to the service: public ProcessService() {
this.InitializeComponent(); this.serviceClient =
this.ChannelFactory.CreateChannel(); // Get the first

20 records in the table. this.CallService(); } private void CallService() { if (this.serviceClient!= null) {
