Category:Adobe InDesign12-8:30pm: It's time for the youth farmers to showcase their work. Here are some more details: All are welcome. Note: If we have been having fun, this may feel like a lot of work. If that's the case, then this is probably too much work. Plan accordingly. 3-4:30pm: We'll have a closed meeting (with snacks!) with all of our youth participants to discuss their experiences so far. If you are participating, please bring your Instagram photo to that meeting. 4:30-5:15pm: Community Conversation 5:15-6:00pm: Closing and Scavenger Hunt 6:00-8:30pm: Follow the @FarmersAssistants' Twitter to see the youth farmers share their creations.Q: Add a property to all objects in a collection based on its ID What I am trying to do is in a model definition, add a property to all my objects within a collection. For example, in my model definition I want to create a property "Type" that gets the ID of the object in a collection. I have tried to create a function that will loop through all the objects in a collection, but it gives me a "Sequence contains no elements" exception. I know I need to store the IDs somewhere, and then retrieve them within the loop, but I am having difficulty with the syntax for that. Here is my definition: ALTER FUNCTION [dbo].[AddTypeProperty] ( @ObjectType int, @TypeProperty nvarchar(max) ) RETURNS @AddPropertyResult TABLE ( [ID] int NOT NULL IDENTITY(1,1) PRIMARY KEY, [ObjectType] int NOT NULL, [TypeProperty] nvarchar(max) NOT NULL ) AS BEGIN Declare @NewTypeProperty nvarchar(max) Select @NewTypeProperty = @TypeProperty + '[' + CAST(@ObjectType AS varchar(10)) + ']' Declare @CollectionCursor int = (Select ObjectType from ObjectTypes)
