In this work, antioxidant activity of flax seed sprout extract (FSSE) and its enhancement using a combination of methyl jasmonate (MJ) and chitosan were studied. The flavonoid and phenolic compound contents of FSSE, determined by high-performance liquid chromatography, increased with the extract maturity from 15 to 35 d after sprouting, reaching maximum values of 567.55 and 0.10 mg/g of flavonoids and phenolic compounds, respectively.
